For ease of installation and configuration on your WordPress site, Digioh provides an installable plugin. To find it, simply search for Digioh in the plugin directory, or visit the plugin page here.

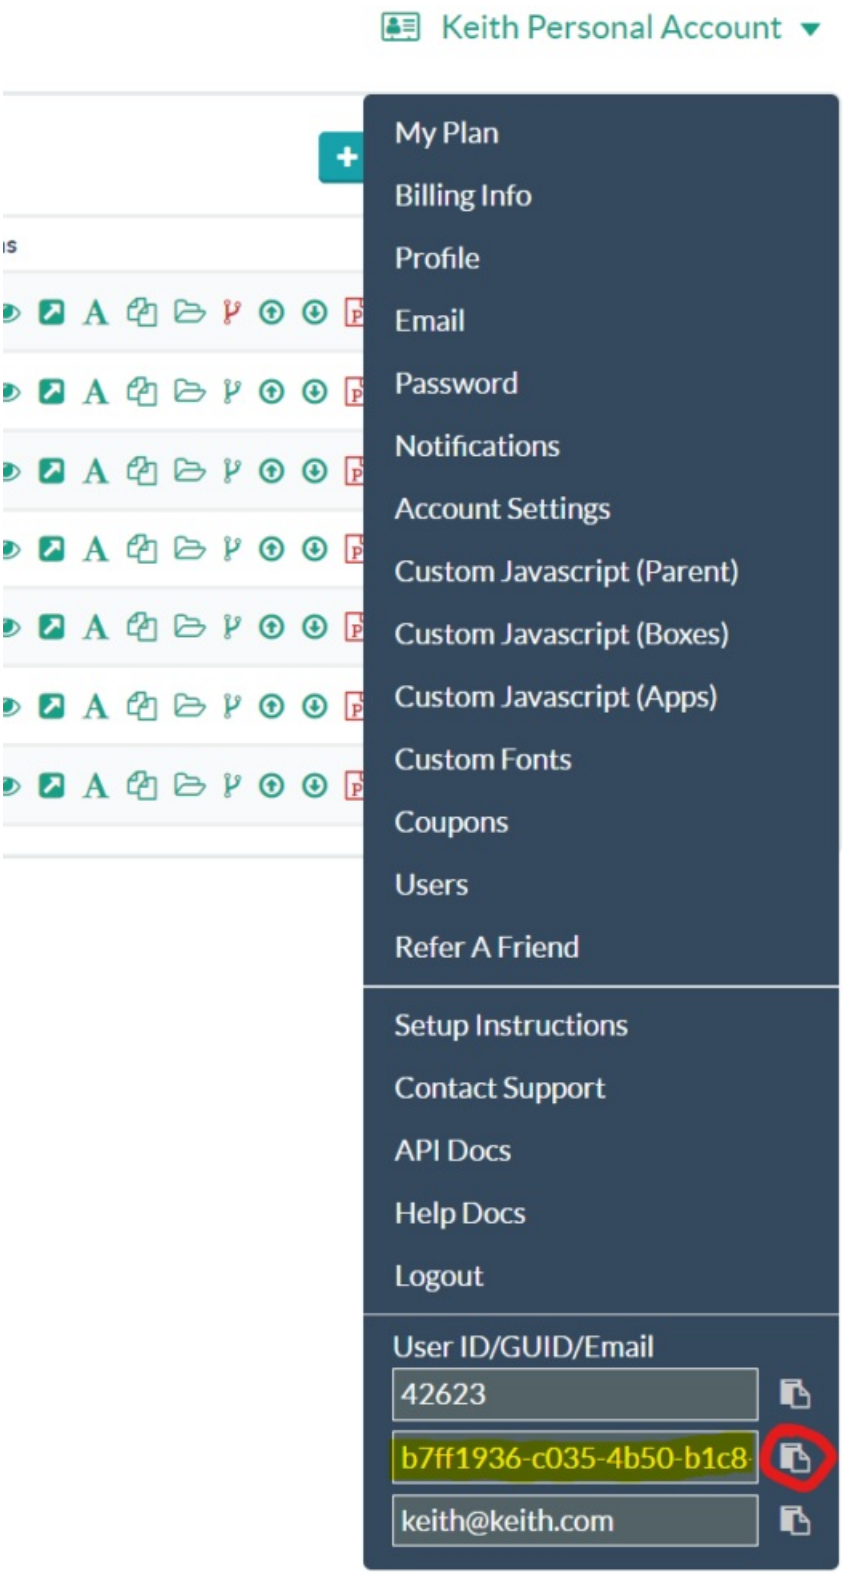

Assuming you already have a Digioh account, when the plugin is installed, go to plugin settings and:

1. Enter your Client ID. 2. Select the Digioh installation method.

Find your Client ID

When logged into Digioh, click on the profile menu top right and copy your Client ID:

Select Digioh Installation Method

The tradeoff is between timely activation of Digioh campaigns and minimizing performance impact to your page load. If you are using inline Digioh campaigns "above the fold" (i.e. visible on the screen without scrolling), then you should use Fast Activation to display those campaigns as quickly as possible. Otherwise, use the Low Impact method.

Site Compatibility is a version of Digioh only for use in rare situations where Digioh has problematical interactions with other technology on your site. It does have slightly weaker performance characteristics, so use this only if requested to do so by Digioh Support.
